

Agri-STEM Complex (Phase I)
Proposed Improvements in 2018 Bond

Improvement	Cost
Facility to Support Academic Programming	$10,500,000
New facility to support horticulture, crop science and ag mechanics used in conjunction with Byron Martin Advanced Technology Center. Programs will be developed with local industry and local institutions of higher education.
Total	$10,500,000